"We relied on color to define and differentiate"

scandinavian spaces

Thomas and Robert Jonsson wanted their first Chicago showroom to be a Nordic dream. And Ghislaine Viñas was just the kind of dreamer the brothers needed. "Treating interiors in a very architectural and graphic way is what drove this project," the designer says of her "punchy" concept, rife with light woods, angular forms and, above all, adventurous color. (Her own bold wallpapers even grace the space.) The company's nine brands are cross-merchandised across seven vignettes. Blå Station is conspicuously represented by Stefan Borselius's high-back Poppe perch and animated Oppo lounger; Thomas Bernstrand's expanded-metal Honken chair; and their jointly designed overstuffed Bob modular seating. The birch frames of Oda Homlong's Rock On stools for NC Nordic Care are topped with upholstered seats. Materia makes a cameo via the maker's Ribbon pouf and Patch stool. There's also a minimalist café and a design center for client confabs. scandinavianspaces.com ➤
